

SENTINEL RECRUITS NEW STRATEGY MANAGER

14 APR, 2016

SENTINEL Property Group has appointed Jamie Simmonds to the new position of group strategy manager.

Simmonds brings more than 15 years of experience encompassing planning, development and advocacy working with a range of local, state and commonwealth government agencies, including the role of project director for the relocation of the Queensland town of Grantham following the devastating floods of 2011, which successfully relocated affected families to new homes in less than 12 months.

He also has previous experience with the Brisbane City Council and consulting on the direction and delivery of many high-profile projects.

THE ZONE

RETIRED Brisbane Lions player Brent Staker has kicked off a new career in management rights sales with Resort Brokers Australia.

Fittingly, his first management rights listing at the new Willow Apartments development is just metres from The Gabba, his beloved home ground for more than six years.

The versatile key position player called time on his long AFL playing career towards the end of last season after 160 games with the West Coast Eagles and the Lions.

Brent is the latest in a string of new appointments by Resort Brokers Australia, which has grown significantly in recent years to field a team of more than 30 agents nationwide.

AT JLL Hotels & Hospitality Group Tom Gleeson has stepped up.

Tom has moved into the Queensland Investment Sales role for pubs and accommodation as an associate.

CERTIFIED valuer Andrew Stove has joined the Landmark White team.

Andrew was previously with Chesterton International's valuations department and before
